INTRODUCTION

This is the sixth volume of the Plantagenet series (Part I) of the edition of the London customs accounts (TNA: PRO E122). It is comprised of 1) the petty customs particulars of account for 1390/91, 2) the petty customs controlment roll for 1392, 3) the wool customs and subsidy controlment roll for 1397 4) the wool customs and subsidy particulars of account and controlment roll for 1397/98 (to 16 June) and 5) the wool customs and subsidy particulars of account and controlment roll for the remainder of the year 1397/98.

Everything the reader needs to understand about the English customs system – and the peculiarities of the customs administration in London – has been detailed in the introduction to the pilot volume.<sup>1</sup> There are, however, some minor issues relating to the accounts edited here which need to be discussed.

PETTY CUSTOMS ACCOUNTS

The first petty customs account edited here notes imports of goods worth £106 by Antony Rizoë on 17 Mar. 1391 (ship 246, p. 54). Against this entry the auditor marginated Exoneratur per breve de 26s 6d. The enrolled account<sup>2</sup> provides the explanation. By mandate issued 9 May 1390,<sup>3</sup> the king directed the customers to take no customs [or subsidy] on Rizoë's imports to London if these did not exceed 10 marks (£6 13s 4d). Since the customers could not have been aware of the king's mandate when Rizoë imported his merchandise, they had no choice but to charge him customs. This was corrected in the enrolled account.

During the period covered by this account (29 Sept. 1390-29 Sept. 1391), the customs status of kerseys<sup>4</sup> changed. By authority of a royal mandate dated 14 May 13 Ric. II/1390,<sup>5</sup> indigenous exports of kerseys were free of customs and alien exports subject only to the petty customs as charged on miscellaneous merchandise (at 3d/£) until the next parliament, which was convened on 12 Nov. 1390. Therefore, the customers rendered a nil account for kerseys exported up to that day.<sup>6</sup> Thereafter, however, kerseys were customed as normal shortcloths (pannus curtus sine grano), one kersey being counted as one third of a shortcloth.<sup>7</sup> Consequently, the customers reported income of £173 2s 5d on indigenious and alien exports of 8466 kerseys (equivalent 2826 panni curti sine grano) for the period after 12 Nov. 1390.

<sup>4</sup> Kersey is a kind of coarse narrow cloth, woven from long-staple wool and usually ribbed, originally produced in Kersey in Suffolk; equivalent to one third of a pannus curtus (OED s.v. kersey).

This occasioned a flurry of marginations by the auditor, and the customers themselves took some time to get accustomed to the new order of things. Up to the beginning of 1391, kerseys were customed by value alone (at 3d/£). The standard entry was as follows:<sup>8</sup>

Note that only the total value of the kerseys (£40) was fiscally relevant. Correspondingly, the total value of all kersey exports was folded into the sum of all merchandise on a given side of a membrane (e.g. at the end of m 15d, p. 106). However, the auditor marginated kersey against the corresponding entry in ship 465 (p. 103: 18 Oct. 1390) and breve against another entry in ship 491 (p. 103: 31 Oct. 1390), in the second case interlining the equivalent number of shortcloths. In all other cases prior to the cut-off date of 12 Nov. 1390,<sup>9</sup> the auditor entered no marginal notations, kerseys were not converted to shortcloths and were customed by value alone.

From 13 Nov. 1390 to the end of the year, there seems to have been no established practise. Against the next kersey entry (ship 502, p. 110: 13 Nov. 1390), the auditor marginated breve and converted the kerseys into shortcloths (interlined), but they were customed by value only. In the case of the next kersey exports (ship 508, p. 111: 17 Nov. 1390), the auditor made no marginal entry, but the kerseys were converted into shortcloths (interlined) and customed on value only. In the summation of crown income at the end of m 16 (p. 111), the customers reported receiving £4 15s 4d for customs on exports of kerseys, but did not specify the number of such cloths. Finally, in ship 519 (p. 112: 25 Nov. 1390), the kersey exports were not converted to shortcloths and were customed by value only. The auditor made no marginal entry.

It was only at the beginning of January that the customs practice was regularized. From ship 537 (p. 115: 1 Jan. 1391) onwards, the standard entry was as follows:

De Thoma Palmere pro 3 balis cum 204 peciis kersey facientibus 68 pannos curtos sine grano ..... Ind' cust' £3 19s 4d
Note that the total value of the kerseys was now fiscally irrelevant. Only the number and the equivalent in shortcloths counted for the customs charge. Therefore, kerseys were now counted (204 pieces) and converted into shortcloths (68 shortcloths) – this was not interlined by the auditor – and customed as cloth at the appropriate rate (1s/cloth for Hansards, 1s 2d/cloth for indigenous and 2s 9d/cloth for other aliens). In marking up the account, the auditor consistently entered kersey in the margin.

WOOL ACCOUNTS

The first wool account edited here (No. III), the controlment roll for the period 17 Feb. to 29 Sept. 1397, contains no mysteries which require explanation. However, it is worth mentioning that the enrolled account<sup>10</sup> notes that alien merchants exported a total of 278 sacks, 7 cloves of wool to Venice in 2 galleys (patroni Almarus Lumbard, Andreas Iden), permission to sail being granted by royal mandate dated 27 July 1397<sup>11</sup> These exports were entered as ships 69-69 (p. 204: 30 July 1397). Since our account is a controlment roll, there was no need to record the royal mandate.

During the period covered by the second wool account (IV), parliament raised the rate of alien wool subsidy by 6s 8d per sack or 240 woolfells to 60s/sack when granting Richard II the wool subsidy for life on 31 Jan. 1398.<sup>12</sup> The auditor recorded this change in two marginated notes. The first (Hic incipit nova concessio), entered against ship 34 (p. 224), is the wrong place chronologically, while the second (A 60s les aliens), marginated against ship 42 (p. 228), is in the correct place. Irrespective of this seeming confusion, the customers charged the aliens subsidy at the old rate of 53s 4d/sack to 31 Jan. 1398 and thereafter at the new rate of 60s/sack.

The customers' particulars of account were fiscal documents, forming an integral part of the procedure imposed on the customers when accounting for the crown's customs income before the Exchequer. As such, they were marked up by the auditor when he summed up the crown's income according to the various categories and tariffs. These marginated annotations form an integral part of the source and, in my view of it, deserve to be reproduced in full. I have done this in the following way. First of all, the auditor's summations of income at the end of each page or membrane (including the jottings reproducing the position of the counters on the counting table) have been reproduced as written in the account. Second, all other marginated notes (e.g. a cross or an asterisk indicating an error) are noted in the normal way in the critical apparatus. However, recording the eternally repetitive marginal notes on the tariff categories to which particular products belonged (panni ind', panni al', panni Hans', per breve etc.) call for a different solution, since including them in the critical apparatus would simply blimp it up to no useful purpose. Consequently, I have indicated them in the text by employing superscript letters in angle brackets (e.g. <sup></sup>De Roberto Derlyngton) and resolving these in a block at the bottom of the page (Auditor's marginated notations L: <sup></sup>panni ind').

The problem of the hundredweight is exceedingly vexed. While it is well known that a hundredweight can correspond to 100 lb., 112 lb. or 120 lb. avoirdupois,<sup>13</sup> there is no way to know which of these three values applies when a customer writes c lb. or fractions and multiples thereof. Just occasionally, when the particulars of account and the controlment roll have survived, some insight is possible, for instance if one of the two records a particular merchant's exports of pewter vessels as di' c lb. vasorum stanni and the other the same goods as lvj lb. vasorum stanni.<sup>14</sup> But these cases are far too rare to inspire confident generalizing. Consequently, I have decided to leave the matter unsolved, marking the text in such a way that the reader can easily reconstruct the entry. The most common notation of weight – multiples of 'c' – has not been marked up. Thus 'ij<sup>c</sup> lb.' is simply transcribed as 300 lb. If the thousand sign was used, the number is marked with a cross: thus, 'ij M<sup>l</sup> lb.' is transcribed as 2000† lb. (but xx<sup>c</sup> lb. as 2000 lb.) If the sign for one half is used, this is indicated by an asterisk: thus, 'di' c lb.' is transcribed as 50* lb. (but 'l lb.' as 50 lb.) And finally, if the sign for one quarter is used, this is indicated by a double cross: thus, 'c q' lb.' is transcribed as 125‡ lb.

Diplomatic Notes on the Form of the Edition

The transcriptions of Latin documents in this edition observe the conventions of the Monumenta Germaniae Historica. The source texts (and all variants) are reproduced in normal type, while editorial intrusions are printed without exception in italics (e.g. mardre L3, in error). Unambiguous abbreviations are expanded silently, without using square brackets or italics to indicate missing letters. u/v and i/j have been regularized silently to accord with pronunciation: thus vniuersalis in the source text is rendered universalis, while 'i' is transcribed if the letter is pronounced as a vowel (imperii), and 'j' if the letter is pronounced as a consonant, i.e. like the 'y' in 'you' (majestas), even if the source writes imperij and maiestas.

Personal names and place names are transcribed exactly as written and only regularized in the Index of People and Places.

Roman numerals are reproduced as Arabic numerals, except for the sovereign's ordinal (Edwardi ivth). Arabic numerals which occur in the source texts are indicated by bold type. ob' is given as ½d, q' as ¼d and ob' q' as ¾d.

Following the convention in German, I have used a full stop after a number to indicate the ordinal rather than the cardinal, if a number is not written out. Thus, 27. die Januarii (p. 147) is to be understood as vicesimo septimo die Januarii, rather than viginti septem die Januarii.

<sup>14</sup> Therefore, when transcribing entries regarding the export of pewter vessels, I have retained the hundredweight (e.g. pro 9 centenis vasorum stanni).

When transcribing the customs accounts, I have numbered the ships consecutively in italics in square brackets. The individual paragraphs of longer texts have also been numbered in the same way. The reason for this is that the web version of the accounts and accounting materials for the Lancastrian period has no pagination, since the amount of text displayed on the screen depends on the size of the monitor and its resolution. Consequently, cross references – whether within a single document, from one document to another or in the indices – to 'page thus-and-such' are meaningless, and some internal sub-division of the text which can be linked in is unavoidable. Since some scholars will want to use the printed version of the edition and others the web edition, it is necessary to provide a common basis. Thus, if one scholar refers to ship No. 24 in the digital version of a particular account, those using the printed version will be able to find the vessel in question.

All dates and cross references in the source texts have been resolved in italics in square brackets in the text of the edition, rather than in footnotes.

If both the particulars of account and the controlment roll survive, certain variants have been suppressed to avoid inflating the text-critical apparatus. Thus, neither the substitution of 'y' in one text for 'i' in the other (e.g. Willyamson, Williamson) nor middle English plural variants (-es, -is, -ys etc.) have been noted in the apparatus criticus. In general, I have limited the notation of textual variants to those cases in which the variant spelling of a word changes the pronunciation. Thus, the variant federbeds will be noted against fetherbeds, but not fedderbeds or federbeddes against federbeds.

Punctuation is artificial and ignores all medieval full stops, commas and so forth. Since Latin is a syntactic language (like German), the eminently useful MGH convention – namely to employ punctuation (according to the pre-reform German rules) to mark up the grammatical structure of the sentence – has been employed here. I have also broken up the stylistically elegant, but utterly incomprehensible run-on Latin sentences of the source texts into manageable units.

Since we are dealing with late medieval administrative Latin, there are some cases which call for local by-laws.

First of all, there are a number of middle English words embedded in the Latin texts which have to be assigned a gender, since they are often modified by an abbreviated adjective (e.g. pro 1 parv' fetherbed). Since the adjectives are written out in a number of instances (pro 1 parvo fetherbed), I have arbitrarily imposed a masculine grammatical gender on all middle English words rather than litter the edition with apostrophes.

Second, the sources themselves are in a muddle as to whether the words custuma and subsidium are singular or plural, and usually avoid the problem by writing cust' and subs'. If a scribe does write out the one or the other word, it is almost inevitable that he will contradict himself, writing custuma in one line and custume a few lines later. This muddle is not merely the result of scribal carelessness or low standards of Latinity. In the fifteenth century, it was possible to differentiate between the collective noun (in the singular) denoting the charges to be paid and the individual sums (in the plural) which each merchant rendered. Even bearing this in mind, however, scribes are simply not consistent. Taking each individual text as a whole, I have done my best to reproduce what the scribe seemed to be thinking.

<sup>1</sup> On 31 Jan. 1398, parliament had granted Richard II the wool subsidy for life and raised the alien rate by 6s 8d per sack or 240 woolfells to 60s/sack: Rotuli Parliamentorum 3, p. 368. Although the change of the alien rate is noted here in the wrong place chronologically (it should have been between ships No. 41 and 42), the customers charged the aliens subsidy at the old rate of 53s 4d/sack to 31 Jan. 1398 and thereafter at the new rate of 60s/sack.

INDEX OF PEOPLE AND PLACES

In accordance with current usage, the first names of Englishmen and -women have been standardized to their current forms. Thus Willelmus in the accounts is indexed as William and so forth. Italian and Spanish first names are given in the 'ablative' (Andrea, Beaceo, Roderigo rather than Andreas, Beaceus, Roderigus). The first names of other foreigners, who are largely Dutch and German, are normally indexed in something approaching their modern forms, e.g. Johannes, Jacob, Herman, Hugo rather than Hugh (which would indicate an Englishman). However, it is not possible to be entirely consistent. Take, as an example, Willelmus. Is one to index Hanseatic merchants as Wilhelm, but Dutch merchants and shippers as Willem or Wim and the Dinanters as Guillaume? To do so would simply be to introduce incredible confusion, entirely leaving aside the intractable problem of distinguishing between merchants of Dutch and Hanseatic origin. Therefore, in a number of cases I have indexed Dutch and German merchants' first names in the current English form: e.g. Paul, William, Laurence, Andrew, Henry.

Family names have been grouped, where possible, in the index, with cross references leading the reader from the variants to the main entry, which records all variant spellings in parentheses. However, given the inconsistency of the customers' scribes, I have found it impossible to resolve all doubts and have therefore tried to steer a middle course between the splitters and the lumpers. There are cases where there can be no doubt that divergent spellings denote one and the same merchant. On the other hand, there are cases where I am all but certain that variant spellings denote one person, yet am troubled by nagging doubts. In these cases I record the names separately and referred back and forth ('see also N.N.').

The order of the family names in the index is phonological, so that, for instance, 'y' is alphabetized as 'i'.

The petty customs accounts (II, IX) distinguish between alien and Hanseatic merchants only if cloth exports are involved, but not in the case of imports or other exports. Therefore, if an alien merchant does not export cloth, it is impossible to determine whether he is a Hansard or a non-Hanseatic alien. In these cases, I have left the question unsolved, identifying the merchant only as (alien/Hanseatic).

Place names are in small capitals.

INDEX OF SUBJECTS

The index is structured so as to serve as a glossary. Hence, the main entry is under the word as it appears in the sources (zinziber), and a cross-reference leads the reader from the modern English term to the main entry (ginger see zinziber). If a term is in Middle English, the plural form is also given (e.g. alle hafte, -s); if in Latin, the genitive (e.g. allec, ecis). More than one reference per page is not noted.
